PROFILE OF ORGANIZATION

Prospective Habitat is a non-profit organization that works to create a better world for our habitat.

Our focus is the promotion, education, preservation and development of our culture and environment in a sustainable way. This organization will perform its activity focusing on the preservation and sustainable cultural and environmental development. During its operation, Prospective Habitat as a non-governmental organization will have a focus on environmental issues which are directly related to the quality of life, as well as all cultural heritage problems as one of the greatest assets of our country.

The organization Prospective Habitat was established in Tirana, at the end of 2019.

Its members are people who love the habitat, nature, environment ready to work and contribute to the good of the habitat in projects that serve the community, the environment and the habitat itself.

The founders of the organization have experience in the fields of environment, tourism, architecture, design, cultural heritage.

The combination of all these experiences by people who see the world in color and in multi-dimensionally way makes our organization ready to work with projects that are dedicated to each of us. By uniting the community, giving the right signals to make fundamental changes in tourism, in culture, in architecture, in social events we will be able to give life to an organism, an individual, an abandoned village or a monument that is hidden somewhere where no one knows.

We need to educate and sensitize everyone about our environment, we need to undertake studies, talk to people closely, understand real needs and bring light where there is darkness.

Our organization will also be involved in environmental activities, such as cleaning the environment, discovering sites where there is a real need for infrastructure, visiting abandoned villages that can be revived or discovering cultural monuments that can be part of the country's heritage.

VISION

The vision of the organization Prospective Habitat is to transform Albania into a country where the environment and cultural heritage are valued as the most valuable assets for the sustainable and long-term development of society.

Our vision for Albania aims to restore the cultural and environmental values of uninhabited areas in the core of development, giving more importance to the principles that make us authentic and original.

Culture, Environment and Tourism, inseparable links of our habitat, will create the generating engine for a sustainable local economy.

Our organization will not be involved in activities of a political or religious nature and in its decision-making will be independent of the government or government institutions, political parties or religious institutions. In the vision of our organization of special importance will be the cooperation with state agencies, national, international and intergovernmental associations, whose activity is directly or indirectly related to the goals of the organization Prospective Habitat.
